To: All Customers, Sales Representatives and Distributors

Date: November 12, 2015

Subject: Addition of Dome Retaining Sheet

This Product Advisory Notice is to alert you that Grayhill is making a design change to the Series 3D32 MicroDisplay.

Description of Change

The standard product will now include a dome retaining sheet over the keypad domes, under the rubber overlay. There is no visible change to the outside of the product.

Reason for Change

The use of the dome retaining sheet improves the reliability of the dome switches.

Effective Date

Grayhill will begin to add the dome retaining sheet to Series 3D32 MicroDisplay assemblies starting January 1, 2016.
